

--Legislative lobbying

--Attempts at church parity and I will tell you a particularly good illustration although the documentation is rather personal.

(5) Problems facing the council:

--The Roman Church...

--Dissident Protestants

--Embarrassing committee reports

--ministerial defection

Of course, no group is perfect and you will find the imperfections in the NCC without a lot of trouble. But we still have evangelicals who think it is better to cooperate with anyone than to go on just the revealed principles. Probably when all is said and done, that is the real modern problem and something the ecumenists are counting on to sustain and support their work.
