

7. Some ecumenists make strong appeals to Scripture for support of their ideals and actions. In a short word, how, do you suppose, Ephesians 4 is used to this end?

8. That schisms cannot be permanently avoided seems plain in the Scripture. How, biblically, would you support this?

9. What do we mean when we speak of a body as being "credal?"

10. The church-state relationship in New England proved very harmful to the older congregationalism in terms of liberals taking pulpits and positions. Very briefly, why was this so?

Part II ..Understanding some terms and idea-like things

1. You are listening to a sermon by a famous preacher and he notes that he believes in salvation and invites people to be saved but does not feel he can make his concepts of salvation mandatory on others. You decide he is a Barthian in theology, if not something worse, and your decision is based on:

2. Student X is giving an elaborate discussion on some topics close to these and he notes that "Wesley was forced to leave the Anglican church when they -or it- whatever, would no longer ordain his workers to the ministry." You know that there is a piece of information missing in his material and it is largely in the fact that....
