

THEME: Trust God for Help When Threatened

Paragraph Notes:

Interpretation

Application

1: Hear me God when I cry to You.	hear my words consider my meditation hear my cry my King, my God unto you is my prayer, my voice you will hear In the morning I will pray and look up.	Call on God early and often
3: You are a God of truth.	God does not dwell with evil. God opposes workers of evil. God hates lying and deceit	Depend on God's character.
3: I am dependent on You.	I will worship in respect of God I will depend on you for guidance	Confess your trust.
10: My enemies have rebelled against You.	My enemies are unfaithful deceivers Judge their rebellion, O God!	Depart from the wicked
-12: Let us rejoice in You.	Cover the ones who love you with your protection Protect the Righteous with blessing.	Take joy in God's care.

SUMMARY: Let the reality of living demonstrate the truths professed.

At a few notes: The summary is often popularized with the terms "walk" and "talk". The center column would have only the Scriptural words in Jensen's design...I have adapted some of these in interpretation.

Note the Psalm easily may be read as an example of introversion:

- | | |
|-------------------------------|---|
| a. The prayerful saint 1-2 | Don't be skeptical about this sort of arrangement... good authors often use such devices to make a point stand out. |
| b. The wicked 4-6 | |
| c. Personal worship 7 | |
| c. Personal confession 8 | |
| b. The wicked 9-10 | |
| b. The prayerful saints 11-12 | |

d without any further note you should be able to see lots of ways in which e Psalm is useful.
