

- 1:14... אֶשְׁכּוֹל "cluster" (Eshcol) Ah, it looks so like a verb!
 ... הַכַּפְר twice in S/S (see also 4:13) a plant, probably aromatic. Note these radicals are used to indicate a lot of different words. 499

... Note proper name "En gedi" as the last expression of the verse.

- 1:15... יוֹנִים "dove" 401 (א.י.)

...The poetic beauty of this language is handicapped by looking up a lot of Hebrew words. I hope you can feel the sensitivity and emotion when you read it after the translation!

- 1:16... נְצִים "pleasant" Notice that the plural is used in the sense of a poetic conceit.

... עֶרֶשׁ "bed"

- 1:17... קוֹחוֹת "beams" 900

... רַחֲיִטָּנוּ "rafters" h.l. 923

These last few verses describe the delightedness, of which we spoke earlier, that the two find in each other. I cannot elaborate on it now...this is the section of translation helps! But it is a touching and beautiful sight.

- 2:1... חַבְצֵלֶת "crocus" "marsh weed" certainly a flower. How about a "rose"

...Proper name "Sharon"

... שׁוֹשַׁנִּית "lily" 1004)

... עֲמָקִים "the vales"

- 2:2... הַחֹהִים "the briars" 296

...Hope you remember the word "companion"...although, of course, one is a lot more than just that in this part of the book.

- 2:3... תְּפֹאֵה "apple tree" 656...rare usage and the actual meaning is obscure

... יַעַר "forest" 420

... בְּצֵלוֹ "in his shadow" think of Psalm 23

... חִמְדָּתִי "take pleasure" (חמד)

... מִתּוֹק "sweet" adjective 608

... זֶהְכִּי "palate" 325
