

Some Books you might like to try:

(Without title: simply author and "Psalms")

The master work is that of Spurgeon: The Treasury of David.

Good commentaries are those of:

W. Graham Scroggie,

Irving Olsen

Older commentaries of genuine interest:

D. Dickson

A. Gaebeli

Heavier commentaries include those of

J.J. S. Perrowe

J.A. Alexander

And not to be overlooked, Mr. Grant's

Numerical Bible.

Also the notes in JFB are fair and the commentary in the Expositor's Bible is useful.

There are lots of works on the Psalms, but as is true of these notes...nothing is better than reading the Psalms themselves.
