

V. CONCLUSION TO OUR STUDY

The Emotional life of the believer is that inner life of concern and feeling. It is not as easily pinned down as the physical life but its effects are felt and recognized easily. The Christian needs to...

have it stabilized on the love of God,

have it cared for in yieldedness to the Scripture...

and use it as a tool for showing God's love to others.

It is too bad if what is of such great value to us in the order of the creation of God is not well used and enjoyed by us in the service of testimony and the growth of others.
