

C. Clauses of Purpose: Methods indicating purpose

Again, many ways to do it..here are the more common:

1. Use of prepositions

(of course there are others)

2. Use of the infinitive construct

3. And context, of course.

WELL, WE ARE AT THE END OF THE FORMAL MATERIAL; And here are some things for you to think about in connexion with this work.

- What may be indicated by the final syllable gametz he?
- What are the verb inflectional affixes?
- How are nouns inflected?
- What is the basic idea in each of the Hebrew tenses?
- How are verbal ideas complemented?
- What are the vowel letters?
- What is meant by a "tri-literal" stem?
- What are the personal pronouns?
- What is meant by "pronominal suffixes"?
- What does a change in word order in a sentence imply..maybe?
- What are the basic ideas in the Hebrew "cases"
- When are words "definite" in Hebrew
- How can you identify a noun that is in construct?
- What principles govern the use of Hebrew adjectives?
- How do the numerals in Hebrew differ from other adjectives?
- What is an inseparable preposition?
- What is accomplished by the different stems in Hebrew?

and there are lots more questions...just run through your notes and write a few for yourself and a friend...it will build your popularity with other students. And this is

THE END.